GOOD ROADS BOOSTER HARRINGTON INSISTS RECOGNITION NEVADA

South through the rich valleys and past the natural wonders of southern Utah.

In the final analysis, Tooele county, Utah, must provide the funds necessary to secure federal aid. They have voted emphatically against the Wendover road. If the Utah politicians and Salt Lake commercial interests insist on a paper route without funds to build it, and the people of Tooele county hold tight to the sack to complete the Lincoln highway which the aforesaid interests will not approve, a stalemate will result.

Under such a condition of affairs no road can be built and the unsuspecting westbound tourist will be advised with regret that the connections to the west are not yet in shape for travel and that the best road lies through the rich valleys to the south of Salt Lake, dotted with dozens of interesting towns where supplies and repairs may be obtained; where lusciously tender grapes and peaches may be had for the asking; and where the finest scenery in the world may be visited by traveling over the fine highways that Utah is building up and down the state.

It has been a popular belief in California that westbound travel has been diverted at Ely. Those who have made these statements do not seem to know that previous few were ever permitted to go west to Ely from Salt Lake.

Central and southern Nevada and northern California have but one hope to realize on the publicity that has been put out, and to profit by what the great natural wonders of the west have to offer. They must unite on some means to secure the early completion of the Lincoln highway in western Utah. The money necessary to meet federal aid is available through bonds authorized by Tooele county and additional aid offered by the Lincoln Highway association. But the politicians and commercial interests in Salt Lake, with their eyes on the welfare and trade of the rich valleys and natural wonders of southern Utah, sit in judgment and say the Wendover route, without funds available to build it, shall be the means whereby Utah will deliver tourist travel to Nevada and northern California.

WILL EXPLORE VOLCANO WITH MONSTER DRILL

Associated Press

HONOLULU, T. H., Feb. 16.—Extensive drilling into the great active volcano of Kilauea, on the island of Hawaii, will be undertaken during 1922 in an endeavor to determine the heat of the volcano, the quantity of steam underneath, the mineral constituents and the solution of other related questions. Professor T. A. Jaggar, Jr., government volcanologist at Hawaii, announced here.

A fund of $8000 has been raised to defray the expense of the experiment, $3000 having been contributed by John Brooks Henderson, of Washington, D. C., and the remainder having been given by Hilo and Honolulu business men.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

OUR WASTEFUL HABITS

IT IS frequently remarked by close-observing Englishmen who visit America, that our people are shamefully wasteful, and fling away money without any apparent thought of the proverbial rainy day.

Whether these alien commenters have penetrated deeply into the subject is not definitely known, but judging from their oft-repeated averments, assuming at times a form of caustic criticism, there is doubtless more truth in the matter than we suspect.

It is not without a pang of regret—a ruffling of our pride, perhaps—that we Americans, who are disposed to analyze conditions with unbiased minds, reluctantly admit that our English cousins are right.

We recognize that we have many spendthrifts, constantly setting a bad example to the young, that they are extravagant and decidedly foolish.

Money is poured out like water, as though, like Topsy, "it just grew." There is consolation, however, in the thought that these prodigalites come mostly from the ranks of the newly rich and thoughtless inheritors.

They have no idea of the stern realities of life, nor the long dragging years of incessant labor and self-denial that are necessary for a working or professional man to accumulate even a moderate competency for old age.

These people congregate where the music flows, where the tables are heaped with dainties. They smile and chuckle, puff themselves up like frogs and spend recklessly. They fall naturally into a state which is common to their kind.

If we could follow them through their improvident course to the end, we would find them in pitiable plight, repentant and likely as not homeless.

The necessity of conserving time and money ought now be impressed upon all of us with considerable more stress than it has been in the recent past, and particularly upon the inconsiderate young men and women.

Let high thinking hard work and thriftiness form the important part of our spiritual bill of fare, so that in the end we may be robust of body and soul, sound of purse, unafraid of landlords and in position in old age to accept all the vagaries of life with supreme confidence and complacency.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WHY NOT TELL HER SO?

O F COURSE you love her just the same.

As when at first you wed,
Perhaps with not so hot a flame,
But still the coals are red.

The new-made blaze is bright with heat,
And ruddy with desire;
But time shall give you something sweet—
Peace, and the quiet fire.

Of course you love her as of old,
Your love she ought to know,
New loves burn hot, new loves turn cold.

With all the winds that blow,
But time shall bring the steady blaze,
The flame that never died;
Yea, time shall bring contented days,
The quiet ingleside.

Of course you love her as of yore—
The years that you have shared,
Have made you love her even more
Than ever you have cared.
Of course you love her just the same,
Your love she ought to know,
For time has brought the steady flame—
But why not tell her so?

HOW DO YOU SAY IT?

By C. N. LURIE

Common Errors in English and How to Avoid Them

"SPOONFULS," ETC.

IN CONSIDERING the proper form of the plurals of such words as "spoonful," "cupful," "armful," etc., it must be borne in mind that the unit considered is not the spoon, the arm, the cup, etc.; but the material that fills the spoon, etc. Thus, the unit is the spoonful, not the spoon, and as "spoonful" is the name of a thing in itself, the proper form of the plural is found by adding an "s" to the word "spoonful," and not to the part of the word "spoon."

Of course, there are times when the unit is the spoon itself; that is, when two or more spoons are filled. When, for example, you have before you two spoons filled with sugar, you should say "two spoons full," and not "two spoonfuls." But when you take a spoon, fill it with sugar and empty it into your coffee cup, and repeat the process, you have taken two "spoonfuls" of sugar, and not two "spoons full."

LUXURY TAXES ARE NO LONGER GREAT BURDEN

With the repeal by the revenue act of 1921 of the so-called "luxury tax" on articles of men's and women's wearing apparel and other changes in tax legislation, the bureau of internal revenue has issued new regulations relating respectively to the excise tax on sales by the manufacturer of certain articles—automobiles and accessories, cameras, candy, firearms, cigar and cigarette holders, liveries, hunting garments, carpets, rugs, trunks, etc.—and the excise tax on works of art and jewelry.

The principal changes in the latter taxes are that the tax on works of art is reduced from 10 to 5 per cent and that the tax on jewelry and similar articles, which remains at 5 per cent, no longer includes gold or silver ornamented glasses and spectacles. The tax on works of art attaches on all sales except the original sale by the artist, a sale to an educational institution or art museum and sales by dealers for resale.

While the tax on musical instruments has been repealed, certain instruments such as cornets, clarinets, etc., if made of or ornamented with silver or other precious metal are taxable.

Fountain pens equipped with gold pen points are also taxable. Monthly returns and payments of the tax on works of art and jewelry are required of the vendor.

Copies of the regulations may be had on personal application at the office of the collector of internal revenue at Reno, and the following branch offices: Yerington, Winnemucca, Ely and Tonopah.
